

amended specification is voluntarily presented as a newly written specification in two forms. In a first form, the new specification is written without markings. In a second form, the new specification is written in which addenda are shown by underline (in red for clarity) and errata are shown by strike-through. Also pursuant to the above Sections, the following declaration is made:

I aver that in the newly written specification no new matter has been added.

E. Poret

Signature

March 8, 2005

Date

CLAIMS:

Claim 1, rewrite as Claim 1 (amended) as follows:

1. (amended) A device for squeezing collapsible tubes comprising:
  - (a) two opposed lever handles, of handheld size, each said lever handle having inward facing surfaces,
  - (b) a primary roller, having a substantially cylindrical outer surface,
  - (c) a secondary roller, having a substantially cylindrical outer surface,
  - (d) means for rotatably connecting said lever handles to form a double non-crossing class 1 lever arrangement, said lever handles being positioned so that said inward facing surfaces are approximately parallel and sufficiently separated to pass a flattened collapsible tube therebetween,
  - (e) means for rotatably attaching said primary roller to one of said lever handles and for rotatably attaching said secondary roller to the other of said lever handles, such that said rollers are substantially parallel and adjacent,